

YANKS TAKE BLOODY MOUNTAIN IN ITALY

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

People are beginning to yap already about how no one nowadays knows the real meaning of Christmas. They complain about all the commercial ballyhoo and blarney. They howl because Christmas cards are to be mailed by December 10. "Who wants to get Christmas cards that far before Christmas they inquire belligerently."

Maybe my idea about the meaning of Christmas isn't universal. Maybe I'm the crackpot. But it seems to me that the fundamental, deepdown reverence toward Christmas and all that it implies hasn't changed one particle.

To most small children Christmas means Santa Claus and sleigh bells, Christmas trees and tinsel, candy and white sparkly snow. They know that Christ was born on Christmas, but that fact isn't as tangible to them as a new doll or a drum or a knobby stocking hanging before a fireplace. That hasn't changed.

To the other children and to the grown-ups, wartime will make some changes in Christmas celebrations at home, for some of the family probably won't be here this year. They'll have their fun perpetuating Santa Claus to their little brothers and sisters and to their sons and daughters. That hasn't changed.

Everyone will sing Christmas carols—everything from "White Christmas" and "Jingle Bells" to "Silent Night" and "Joy to the World." And when the ground is white and snow sifts through the air, when stained glass windows of churches glow, when bells ring clear through the night and church steeples are silhouetted against the sky, that is when the spirit of Christmas that is "banded" about will come. And that won't change—ever.

Stories incident to Collett's confession of the McCoy murder just keep popping up.

One of the latest to reach our ears here concerns a two table bridge club that was completely broken up when newboys tore over town last Wednesday night with the extras. Each of the eight women bought a paper and then each scurried to a different corner of the house so she could read the story of the confession without any interruption.

Another, more spectacular story, one that really can send chills down your spine concerns an in-law cousin of Mr. and Mrs. Collett who invited them to her house for dinner the Saturday after the funeral. Because the killer was then at large, she also invited the Colletts to stay overnight. She said she would feel safer with a man in the house. (P. S.—They didn't stay.)

COST-OF-LIVING BATTLE DRAWING NEAR SHOWDOWN

Food Subsidy Controversy Overshadows All Other Questions in Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—The chief problem confronting Americans at home, says War Mobilization Director Byrnes—is how to hold down the cost of living.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) expresses the belief we can avoid inflation by holding the line but he suggests a new line be established and held—a line "worked out on the basis of equity."

There were indications his words may have failed to move the anti-subsidy factions in Congress. The administration has been pleading urgently with congressional farm blocs to continue the federal payments designed to keep retail food prices down, or at least to compromise on the issue.

But Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), ranking minority member of the House banking committee which drafted the pending anti-subsidy bill declares flatly: "There will be no compromise."

Byrnes, hitting at proposed legislation to ban food price subsidies, to raise prices of milk and oil, and to lift railroad wages, said: "If we do not hold the line now, I confess I do not know how or where we are going to hold back the flood gates of inflation. There are no prepared positions to which we can retreat. Some talk of controlled inflation. Such talk is just as criminally reckless as a proposal for a controlled flood or a controlled forest fire or a controlled epidemic of smallpox."

"Drop" or Buckettful
Whether the Senate finance committee will rest on the $2,140,000,000 level of the House-approved tax bill, or seek to boost the ante up toward the treasury's request for $10,500,000,000 may be made today. If the lower sum is accepted, the bill may be sent to the White House before the Christmas holidays.

WOMAN IS JAILED FOR SHOOTING GIRL

Taken To Own Home and Put In Bed Afterward

EASTMAN, Ga., Dec. 8.—(P)—A young wife was jailed today on a kidnapping charge after she was accused of calling an 18-year-old girl from a high school class and shooting her in a fit of jealousy.

Sheriff E. J. Smith of adjacent Wilcox County said the accused woman was Mrs. Lonnie Britt, 35, of Rochelle, Ga., and the wounded girl Ruby Sheppard of Rhine. The girl was reported in good condition in an Eastman hospital, suffering a bullet wound in the right breast.

The officer said the young mother of two children was charged with calling Miss Sheppard from a class on the pretense of taking her to the Sheppard home for a discussion.

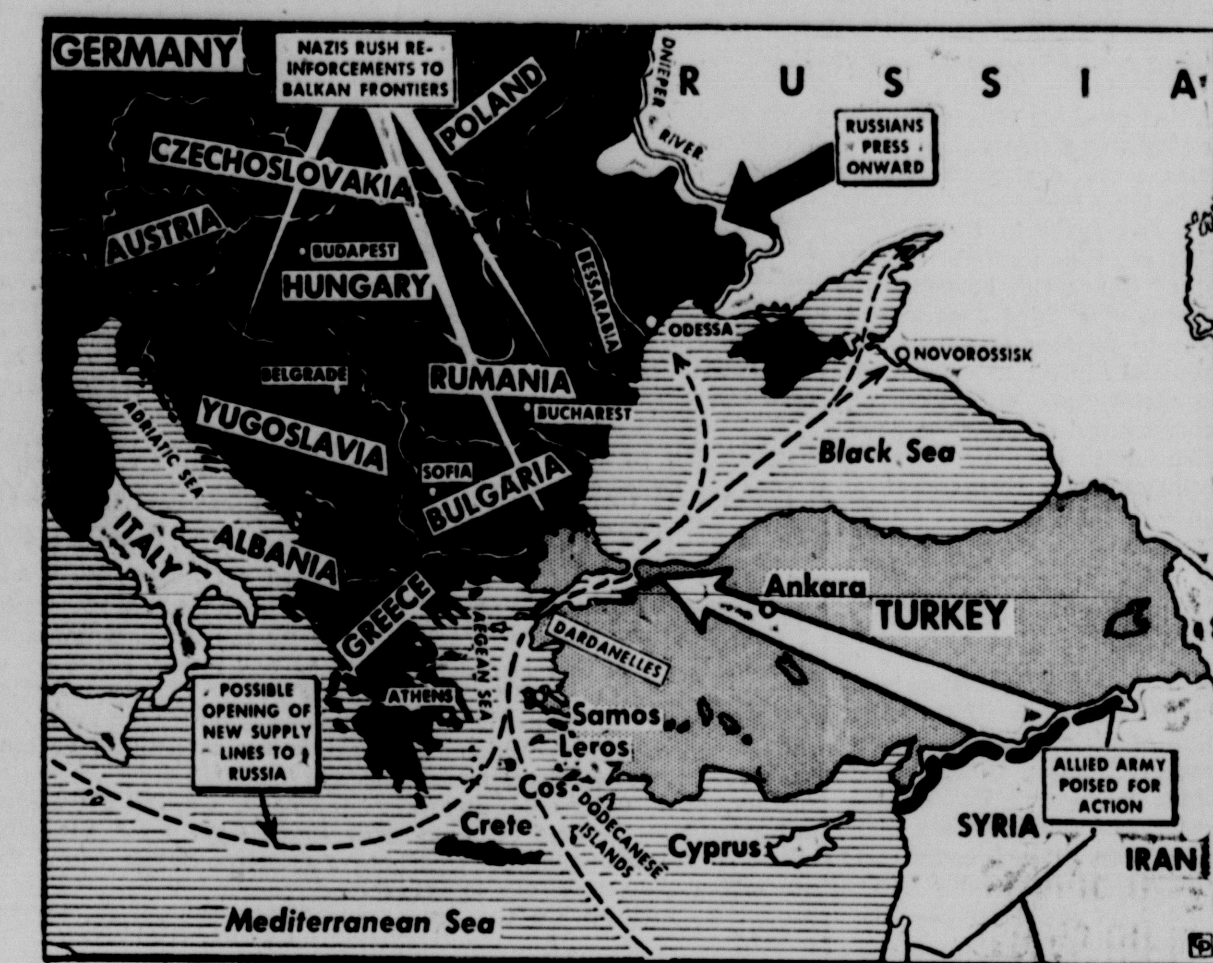

Deputy Sheriff Jeff Holt of Dodge County said the girl was taken from school during the morning in a truck and held at gunpoint until four o'clock when the shooting occurred.

After shooting the girl in the breast, Holt said, Mrs. Britt took Miss Sheppard to her home and placed her in bed. Three hours later he added, the girl was taken to her own home.

Mrs. Britt gave no statement to officers. The Sheriff said James Harris Macy, 14, nephew of Mrs. Britt, witnessed the shooting.

Smith declared he was informed that Mrs. Britt accused the girl of having dates with her husband.

Turkey Expected To Join Allies In War Against Germany When Invasion Begins

IMPORTANT NEW POSSIBILITIES in the developing Allied assault on the European fortress of the Nazis are seen in the conference of President Ismet Inonu of Turkey in Cairo with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. Moves and possible moves are shown on this map. (International)

Deeds, Rather Than Words, To Bring Full Significance of Cairo Conference, Informed Observers Believe

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—Deeds, rather than words, are expected by informed observers here to bring out the full significance of Turkey's newly defined role as an associate of the Allies fighting Germany.

The impression gained from the last Cairo communique is strong that this role is to be one of great importance. At the strategic moment when her help will count most Turkey very probably will enter the war.

Whether that moment is close at hand or in the indefinite future is a question that can be answered only by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, President Ismet Inonu of Turkey or their ranking advisers and Russian associates. The world may learn the answer only when it is expressed in action.

That her destiny eventually will lead Turkey into military partnership with the Allies is regarded as probable for two reasons—her strategic position in relation to the Balkans and her desire for a full voice in the peace councils.

Significance of the Cairo meeting, announced last night, may lie in the reaffirmation of the Anglo-Turkish alliance by the Turkish government not only to the British but to the Americans and Russians as well.

Broadly speaking there are three main avenues of military approach to Germany: (1) Across the English Channel and through Belgium and Northern France; (2) across the Adriatic and through northern Yugoslavia; (3) through the Aegean Sea and the Balkans.

Only in the Aegean area have the Allies had little hope of successful attack without the cooperation of still another country. For with the Germans entrenched in Greece and in the Aegean Islands, Turkey holds the key to a drive in this area.

Airfields on the western rim of Turkey would outflank and make possible the quick conquest of such islands as would have to be taken. Turkey itself is a bridge from Asia to southeastern Europe.

Turkey's role in the events to come may be active, with her army participating in a Balkan offensive.

BITTER FIGHTING NOW RAGING IN SNOW IN RUSSIA

Air Attacks Indicate New Offensives Planned by Allies Against Japs

By RICHARD McMURRAY

By The Associated Press
The Allied Fifth Army has captured the summit of lofty Mt. Camino, routed the Nazis from three villages southwest of Mignano, and recaptured rain-and-blood-soaked Monastery Ridge overlooking the road to Rome.

Official reports from Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters said the enemy has been shoved back to the fringe of ridges on the northern and western edges of Mt. Camino and Mt. Maggiore by the steady, savage thrusts of American and British troops.

The Fifth Army's hammer blows through the deep, powerful German winter line toward Cassino were accompanied by fresh gains on the Eighth Army's Adriatic coastal sector.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces crushed repeated Nazi counterattacks, and reported limited advances in the area of the Moro River, where both British tanks and infantry had crossed the stream.

German Losses Heavy
Evidence of severe German casualties in defense of this coastal sector came with discovery that Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring had thrown the 90th armored Grenadier division into the line there to relieve the 65th infantry. The 65th was so badly smashed that one of its battalions lost all its officers, emerging with only a sergeant-major left to command.

Allied medium bombers carried out attacks on Civitavecchia, northwest of Rome, and the important Adriatic port of Pescara. Six enemy planes were shot down in yesterday's operations without loss to the Allies.

See-saw in Russia
The Russians were forced into a new retreat in the Ukrainian bulge, 80 miles west of Kiev in the Chernyakhov area, before the massed might of 1,700 charging German tanks.

WHISKEY DIVIDEND IN NEW DIFFICULTY

Stockholders Have To Get Permission To Cash In

DETROIT, Dec. 8.—(P)—Michigan stockholders of the Tom Moore Distillery Co. face difficulties because they may gain possession of the 27 gallons of whiskey per share the company plans to distribute as a dividend on December 21.

A temporary injunction restraining the company from distributing the liquor dividend was dissolved in Circuit Court here Monday.

Alfred W. Lindbloom, Detroit counsel for the company, said the dividend would be in the form of negotiable certificates. A $6 a gallon federal tax would apply at the warehouse, but before any of the whiskey may be distributed in Michigan approval must be obtained from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The commission, only legal wholesaler of liquor in Michigan, will insist that the whiskey be bottled, according to Felix H. H. Flynn, a member of the commission, and the state's 46 percent markup will be collected. The state liquor laws makes no provision for importation of barreled whiskey.

Guadalcanal Never Like Tarawa Hill

ABOARD A TRANSPORT OFF
TARAWA, Nov. 20.—(Delayed)
—(P)—"Guadalcanal was never like this!"

From the moment I landed, writes Correspondent Tech. Sgt. Gerte Wark of New York City, I have heard this expression.

In comparing Guadalcanal with this "hell-hole," one high-ranking Marine officer told me that the other was a picnic.

This morning (Nov. 22), my second on the island, not 15 yards from where I dug my fox-hole for the night, we un-forded five Japs holed in a deep and many tunneled barricade.

A lieutenant and two corporals went in. Four Japs were killed by First Lieutenant Paul S. Hospodar, of 3214 Norfolk Avenue, Lorain, Ohio. Corporal Fred P. Mischuk of St. Paul, Minn., had one leg of his trousers bayoneted away by one of the Japs. The other corporal was Frank Mogera, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

NEFFNER LOSES SUIT TO GET OLD JOB BACK

COLUMBUS, Dec. 8.—(P)—George M. Neffner lost his supreme court action today to compel Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel to reinstate him as statistician and editor in the secretary's office, a post from which Hummel removed him soon after taking office last January.

The court held Neffner had lost his civil service status by not taking a competitive examination after serving as secretary of state by appointment following the death of Secretary Earl Griffith late in 1942.

CINCINNATI BREWERIES SLOWED UP BY STRIKE

'Friend of Public' Insists on

COLUMBUS, Dec. 8.—(P)—Ohio's harassed liquor monopoly system had a new worry today—promise of a formal complaint against its rationing system, and a suggestion the liquor control board be abolished.

A former state legislator, Patrick F. Monahan of Cleveland, demanded at a public hearing before the board yesterday that ration card holders be permitted to buy in any ration period liquor which they were unable to purchase in previous periods.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—Mrs. Belle Lee Ridenour, 40, wife of C. F. Ridenour, publisher of the Piqua (Ohio) Daily Call, died today after being found unconscious in her smoke-filled room at the fashionable Shoreham Hotel.

Coroner A. Magruder McDonald said smoke from a burning mattress apparently caused her death.

Check on Farm Prices Urged at Farm Bureau

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(P)—Farmers should join "wholeheartedly to hold their prices in check," Chester C. Davis, former war food administrator, told the American Farm Bureau Federation's Annual Convention last night.

"The point I want to make tonight," Davis asserted, "is that the general level of farm prices in 1943 has been high enough to yield a cash farm income of between 19 and 20 billion dollars against 8.7 billions in 1939 and 11.3 billions in 1929. . . .

"In the interest of long-time welfare any further marked increase in the general level of farm prices is undesirable. Unless their production costs materially increase, farmers for their own and the general welfare should join wholeheartedly to hold their prices in check. . . . for one thing, further increases would add to the danger of inflation in farm

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Dec. 8.—(P)—American troops in Italy, Sicily and North Africa are getting their Christmas gifts—an estimated 5,000,000 parcels—with the help of trucks, jeeps, planes, amphibious "ducks," and even pack mules and former Italian prisoners of war.

Headquarters said today the Army Postal system, under a deluge of more than a third of a million bags of holiday gift packages weighing about 10,000 tons, had done more business in the last six weeks than in the entire preceding year of the North African campaign.

Throughout the Mediterranean area, former Italian prisoners now organized into special labor battalions are helping transfer the mail sacks from ships to trains, from freight cars to trucks, and then on to the troops.

BIG FOOD COMPANIES IN SUBSIDY WOODPILE

RUSSIAN BASES TOO DANGEROUS

That's War Department View
Of Jap Bombing Theory

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(P)—The narrator in an official War Department film soon to be shown war plant workers suggests that use of Siberian bases would involve Russia in war with Japan and thus "endanger the plans of our own army."

A sound track narrative accompanying the film, devoted mainly to showing how strong Germany and Italy still are, says:

"What about Siberian bases for attacking Japan? Vladivostok lies at the end of a long supply line which is particularly vulnerable from Khabarovsk down."

"The Japanese army has 500,000 troops deployed along this supply route. If we or the Russians use these bases to bomb Japan, the bases immediately would be made useless and Russia would be involved in a two-front war."

BREAK WITH NAZIS BY BULGARIA SEEN

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 8.—(P)—Many persons in Sofia expect Bulgaria will follow Italy's example and break with the Germans, the Newspaper Allehanda said today in a dispatch from Istanbul.

The dispatch said if there is an invasion of the Balkans Bulgarians generally want to be on the side of the Allies.

It added great nervousness persists in Sofia, heightened by the fact that the Bulgarian ministers in Berlin, Moscow and Ankara now are home for conference and a Russian military mission is visiting the Bulgarian capital.

Yugoslav Guerrillas Get Into Private War

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 8.—(P)—The Zurich correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper, Dagens Nyheter reported today Gen. Draja Mihailovic had issued a proclamation declaring his Chetniks would fight the partisan forces of Gen. Josip Broz (Tito) as enemies of the Yugoslav government in exile.

The partisans on Saturday announced establishment of a provisional government within Yugoslavia in opposition to King Peter's government-in-exile. It is headed by Dr. Ivan Ribar, with Tito chairman of a new committee for national defense.

The Zurich correspondent, who said he was a personal friend of Mihailovic, asserted he had received a letter from the Chetnik leader stating:

"We never attacked the partisans except in cases when my people attacked them for plundering, but when these partisans officially stand against King Peter, we see in them our enemies the same as the Germans, Italians, Bulgarians, and the troops" of Nazi puppet Premier Milan Nedice.

Mihailovic denied any collaboration with the Germans, Italians, or Nedice forces, and said that as minister of war in King Peter's government he was trying to defend the government's interest.

FARMERS NAB MAN WITH CORN HE HAD STOLEN

Frank Cornell Is Brought To County Jail by Armed Farmers

When Frank Cornell, of the Bush road, was caught by Robert Underwood and Charles (Shorty) Williams, with a sack of corn he had stolen from Underwood on the Henkle farm a few miles west of Washington C. H. early Tuesday night, he was promptly brought to the county jail to remain until he can be arraigned on the charge, Sheriff W. H. Icenhower stated Wednesday.

Underwood, who resides at Jonesboro, had occasion to go to the Henkle farm to see about some of his livestock and seeing an automobile parked at the roadside opposite a field of his corn, went to Williams' home nearby to obtain a shotgun to investigate.

Williams had a shotgun and pistol so the two men quietly went to the parked car and waited until the man in the cornfield came to the machine, whereupon they covered him with the guns and took him into custody.

Underwood said Cornell had husked the corn he had in a sack when discovered.

Underwood had missed much corn out of the same field, he said.

Washington's largest liquor dealer, Milton S. Kronheim and Sons, has settled a liquor price violation case with the OPA for $200,000, says the chief district attorney for the price agency. The liquor firm admitted, says OPA, to making overcharges, sometimes as high as ten dollars a case.

Women War-Workers

Dorothy Lucas, as chief of the Office of War Information's magazine bureau, recently inspired a rash of magazine covers extolling war-working women. She resigned today. Her reason: Lack of community services means "definite neglect of my children." "Women wouldn't need to neglect their children," she says, "if the whole community felt it important to help women do war jobs. But the communities don't feel it important and do nothing to make it possible for women to work."

Pearl Harbor Trial

Congress has passed a resolution extending for six months the two-year period of statute of limitations applicable in the courts martial of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Major General Walter C. Short who were in command of Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck two years ago.

Unless the two men are tried and acquitted within the next six months, or another extension is granted, the threat of punishment for alleged dereliction of duty will be removed.

During the debate on the bill which was sent to the White House yesterday, Sen. Clark (D-Mo.) demanded the impeachment of War Secretary Stimson and Navy Secretary Knox unless they order immediate courts martial.

The House completed congressional action yesterday on the resolution lauding the flight and expressing the nation's "gratitude and respect for this signal and astounding contribution to the progress of the world." Orville, the surviving Wright brother, will receive an engraved copy.

"In my opinion," he asserted, "it (the Kitty Hawk flight) is probably the greatest disaster that has ever happened to mankind. I do not think there is any question that the Wright brothers, high as were their motives, probably contributed more to the disasters of mankind than any other two men who ever lived in the history of the world."

Petitions Are Requested for Lieutenant Governor

A Washington C. H. attorney is going to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

This was disclosed Wednesday morning when Reed M. Winegardner asked the secretary of state for nominating petitions.

Winegardner is chairman of the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for the same office in the 1940 and 1942 primaries. He was a candidate for state supreme court judge in 1934 and again in 1938.

DEATH WEAPONS STILL MISSING IN MURDER CASE

No County Official Can Share in Reward of $2,000

No new developments were reported Wednesday in connection with the investigation that is being made into the triple murder of the Elmer McCoy family at their farm home Thanksgiving eve, and for whose slaying Prosecutor John B. Hill will seek the indictment of James W. Collett, Clinton County farmer who is now confined in the Fayette County jail awaiting action of the law.

Whether further search for the two death weapons figuring in the case was continuing Wednesday was not indicated by Sheriff W. H. Icenhower, who has expressed himself as well pleased with developments during the past few days. The guns are still missing so far as known.

Disposition of the reward money will not be made until conviction of the killer is obtained, and then it will be given only to those entitled to it, if anyone, it was said.

Sheriff Icenhower or any other county official can not share the reward under the law, and right now it appears doubtful if anyone had furnished vital information after the reward was announced that would in itself implicate Collett, who was one of the suspects from the first.

Collett Wednesday wore the plastic collar brought to him a few days ago by his son, but did not have it on Wednesday morning. He had not been wearing it regularly for sometime, reports indicate.

Collett now has several companions in the jail as additional law violators have been committed to the county prison.

Affairs at the McCoy farm are moving along under the personal direction of Dr. J. A. McCoy, who, with Mrs. James W. Collett, were named administrators. Mrs. Collett having asked Dr. McCoy to give his personal attention to looking after the farming interests of the estate.

Further developments in the case are expected within the next day or two, it is understood.

GEORGE BUCHANAN FUNERAL SERVICES

Interment Is Made in the
Ripley Cemetery

Largely attended funeral services for George Buchanan, who was fatally injured in a wreck at Whetstone Crossing early Sunday morning, were held at the Hook Funeral Home Tuesday at 10:30 A. M. and at 3 P. M. services were also held at the Boyd Memorial Christian Church in Ripley and burial made there.

Rev. George B. Parkin, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, conducted both services, and the services at Ripley were also largely attended by relatives and friends from that community where the Buchanan family formerly resided. Rev. Parkin paid a personal tribute.

There was a wealth of beautiful floral gifts.

Mrs. Marion Gage played softly at the beginning of the services here and again at the close.

Mrs. Jeannett Gardner Moore was at the piano for the services in Ripley.

Favorite hymns and a poem were read by Rev. Parkin at both services.

Palbearers were: Emerson Marting, Robert Wilson, Jack Wilson, Robert Mace, Langdon McCoy, Lieut. Frank Hutson and Howard Barney.

Davis contended the use of subsidies was unnecessary "either to keep food prices from advancing further, or to secure downward adjustment in the case of commodities when consumer prices are higher than necessary to get production and reward the producer."

"Neither on the other hand," he continued, "do I believe it is wise national policy to prohibit all use of subsidies. Whether they are used and the extent to which they used should depend on their necessity from the standpoint of planned and intelligent food management."

Jungle War Eases

A lull settled over ground fighting on the Huon peninsula of New Guinea and on Bougainville in the Solomons as Allied bombers pounded the northern arc of Japanese-held New Britain and the enemy's remaining bases in the northern Solomons.

The bombers concentrated again on Cape Gloucester on the western tip of New Britain, where reconnaissance showed barge and troop movement centers. More than 100 planes participated in the raids.

Effect of earlier attacks on Rabaul, the enemy's principal base on New Britain, was indicated by aerial observation and increased the belief that Rabaul's usefulness to the Japanese may be about ended. Rear Admiral Robert Carney, chief of staff in the South Pacific area, said it was no longer tenable as a Japanese base.

dead and 75 demolished tanks.

Turkey apparently moved a trifle more to the Allied side in a three-day conference between President Roosevelt and Inonu and Prime Minister Churchill.

The slow Fifth Army gains in western Italy were made against the most determined German defense in cruel weather. Three more villages were occupied. The fighting was 80-odd miles short of the Italian capital.

Allied bombers attacked a port northwest of Rome and six Nazi planes were destroyed without loss to the Allies.

Jap Drive in China

Fall of the ancient Chinese city of Changteh brought the prospect of a third Japanese attempt to capture Changsha, the provincial capital, 10 miles away. The victory not only gave the enemy control of the "rice bowl" region but cut the Hunan-Szechwan supply line, one of the Chinese army's principal sources of supply.

In the Southwest Pacific, however, the Allies continued heavy aerial attacks on Japanese island positions amid further signs of preparations for new offensives.

In a move to facilitate better timing of their blows against the Japanese, General Douglas MacArthur, Southwest Pacific commander, and Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander for Southeast Asia, have agreed on plans for instantaneous interchange of information.

er but acting in the public interest, Monahan said he tried three times in November to buy liquor which a retail store stocked but was told it was not on sale when he applied and the November ration period expired before he could get it.

Monahan termed a "czar" Liquor Director Don Fisher who sets ration periods and the amount of spirits which a ration card holder can buy. Scarcity of liquor made rationing necessary to spread the available stocks as far as possible among the buying public, Fisher has said.

The liquor monopoly law directs the board to make regulations and hear appeals from the director's decisions. The board also holds four public hearings a year to ascertain public reaction to the monopoly's operation.

Monahan told the board it should be abolished "since the director can operate as he sees fit."

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The winning of ultra-conservative Turkey into "closest unity" and complete "identity of interest" with America, Britain and Russia, represents one of the major bloodless victories of the war, for there are few places of greater strategic importance than the territory and waters under Turkish control.

There's a double significance in this event, which was the outcome of a meeting between Turkey's President Ismet Inonu and Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill in Cairo. Apart from the moral and perhaps material strength acquired by the Allies, this agreement seems to mean that there must have been an ironing-out of long-standing and dangerous suspicions between Ankara and Moscow. This thought is strengthened by the fact that while Marshal Stalin himself couldn't be present, he joined in inviting Inonu to the party, and thus gave the session his official blessings.

Looking at the thing from all angles, I should say that the handshaking between the Muscovites and the Turks is a matter of greater moment even than the further cementing of the Anglo-American and Turkish friendship. That's so because the hard-eyed way the Russians and the Turks have watched each other play their cards has made other nations uneasy.

The point has been, of course, that the Turks control the Dardanelles—the famous strait which provides the only gateway the Russians have between the Black Sea and outside waters.

Naturally Moscow has wanted to ensure her perpetual use of this waterway, which is more priceless than as though filled with molten rubies. Great wars have grown out of far less than that.

So it's good to see the Turks and Muscovites smiling at each other. The pot of gold at the end of that rainbow will be friendly adjustment of the status of the Dardanelles.

Does this Turko-Allied agreement mean that the Ottomans are going to join us in the war? Hard and fast conclusions on that question might be risky. I think the position is all like this:

The Turks appear to have given their outright allegiance to the United Nations. The indications are that Ankara is prepared to get into the war with both feet, if the Allies really need this additional military aid. Such a situation might arise from the projected all-out offensive against Hitler, and a call from the Allies likely would set the Turkish armies marching.

However, while the Turks have been modernizing and reequipping their forces with the aid of Britain and the United States, they still lack the equipment they would like to have for war against the Hitlerites. Also, Turkey's territory in Europe, north of the Dardanelles, is vulnerable to heavy assaults from the Germans occupying the neighboring Balkan areas. Furthermore, don't forget that the Nazis hold the Aegean Islands off the Turkish coast, or that the great, straggling city of Istanbul (Constantinople) lies wide open to attack by German bombers.

So I think we can say that the Turks probably are on call for active service, if and when needed. Meantime one would expect that they at least would grant the Allies valuable bases and free passage through Turkish territory if we should need it.

Thus far it has served the Allies far better to have Turkey neutral. If the Turks had joined the United Nations prior to the Italian collapse, while the Axis was still master of the Balkan Peninsula, there would have been a strong possibility that the Hitlerites might break through Turkey into the Middle East, thereby upsetting a very large dish of Allied fat into the fire. Had it not been

SICK INSURANCE BILL DENOUNCED AT ROTARY CLUB

Physician Warns Against 'Regimentation', No Solution To Problems, He Says

The Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bill now pending in Congress would drastically reduce the quality of medical care which the American people are now receiving, Dr. C. E. Sherburn told Rotarians and guests at the luncheon club's Tuesday meeting.

It would establish a compulsory sickness insurance system covering 100,000,000 people yet would do nothing to solve existing health problems, Dr. Sherburn continued.

Urging his listeners to combat the passing of the bill by asking their representatives in Congress to defeat the Wagner bill, he pointed out the "excessive" costs of the proposal, declaring that it would saddle the taxpayers with additional taxes estimated at 15 billion dollars annually.

Dr. Sherburn cited the following specific objections to the medical and health provisions of the Wagner proposal:

"1. It would place in the hands of one man—the surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service—the power to regiment 100,000,000 persons so far as their medical and health services are concerned; would give him the right to say which physicians may render services under the system, how many patients a physician may take care of, and which physicians a patient may consult as specialists; would empower him to set hospital standards and rates and to dictate how hospitals shall be operated. In effect, it would make the family doctor a government agent."

"2. It would reduce the quality of medical and hospital services as it would standardize medical and hospital services at the level of the most inefficient or lax doctor or hospital; would force hospitals to reduce standards because of reduced income; would make patients 'panel' patients, subject to red tape and regulations established at Washington; destroy the incentive of a physician to become a better doctor or to consider patients as private patients rather than 'panel' patients; discourage promising youngsters from entering the practice of medicine which would be subjected to political domination and bureaucratic domination."

"3. It would destroy the voluntary Blue Cross hospital service programs, now serving 12,500,000 persons and many hospital and accident insurance companies now insuring 25,000,000 under a system of free enterprise; would discourage the formation of medical service plans on a voluntary basis."

"4. It would be another wedge toward federalization of public education as it would place a federal bureau in virtual control of medical schools and medical research."

"5. It would be a gigantic extension of federal control over for the great water barrier of the Dardanelles, Hitler likely would have risked Turkey's million bayonets in any event.

Vast credit must go to Britain for the Allied-Turkish love feast. It's safe to say that Ankara's friendship for England was largely responsible (1) for Turkey's refusal to join the Germans as in the last war, and (2) for this final declaration of solidarity with the United Nations.

the lives of all American citizens, accompanied by more regulation and more regimentation, necessitating the employment of additional thousands of federal administrators and clerks."

Dr. Sherburn pointed out that America today is the healthiest nation which has ever existed and that additional progress could be made through safe and sane cooperation on the part of private enterprise, the public, the medical profession, health agencies and government—primarily state and local governments—not through setting up a medical and health dictatorship as suggested in the Wagner Bill.

Dr. Sherburn is president of the Ohio State Medical Association and is a practicing physician in Columbus. Dr. J. H. Persinger introduced Dr. Sherburn.

Paul Pennington, Rotarian who leaves Monday for Great Lakes Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill., spoke briefly to the club, telling how much Rotary membership had meant to him and how much he had enjoyed being scoutmaster of the club's Boy Scout troop.

President Carroll Halliday assured Pennington that the Rotarians would miss him as much as he would miss the club and its activities. Rev. John K. Abernethy has been named successor to Pennington as scoutmaster of the Rotary troop.

A plan to bring attendance to the 100 percent mark was outlined at the meeting. Negotiations are now being made with another Rotary club in a neighboring town to start an attendance contest.

Hazel Meyer, Jap prisoner for more than a year, is slated to speak at the next Tuesday's meeting of the club. She will tell the story of her experiences in more than 25 years of work in China as well as her internment in the Japanese prison camp. The meeting has been designated as ladies' day, and Rotary Anns, as well as other women guests will be welcomed.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is just what you need.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's aid digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

Waste of Food
Wasting food is a not-so-good old American habit. Now we've got to cut it out. Yes, even in the holiday season. Not for reform purposes, but for survival, because to smash the Axis and help win the peace we need more food.

Every American household wastes at least one slice of bread a week. That stacks up to 100,000,000 loaves. Sure, we all do it. Every man, woman and child in the United States wastes about three-quarters of a pound of good food every day. Our armed forces and our lend-lease Allies could have chowed well on what we chucked out last year.

Today, 50,000,000 meals are served every 24 hours in public eating places. The leavings scraped off the plates would feed 3,000,000 soldiers. Many cities have sanitary laws forbidding restaurants to use any served bread, rolls, cream, butter, etc., not eaten by the customers. That goes for hospitals and institutions, too. But if restaurants try to limit servings, many customers complain.

We waste between 20 and 30 per cent of all the food produced. But we can't stop it completely. Waste doesn't exist in a vacuum. It's tied up with habit, manufacturing and transportation, as well as wasteful ways of cooking. If we can cut down bread waste from 100,000,000 loaves a week to 67,000,000, or the 3-4 pound we toss into the garbage pail every day to 1-2 a pound, we'll still be getting places.

The Army and Navy have gone after waste with military thoroughness. Many wholesale food merchants, processors, and distributors waste food. However, in so vast an industrial set-up, many causes of waste cannot be entirely overcome without establishing new systems that require new machinery. In wartime, that's out of the question.

Quantities of food could be saved if we had more workers. But there's a transportation shortage. And so it goes. In the final analysis it's up to the home folks.

What do we waste most? According to research by the Sanitary Engineering Research Laboratory of New York university, 23 per cent of the garbage consisted of green vegetables, 27 per cent of other vegetables, 29 per cent of citrus and other fruits, 14 per cent of baked goods, and 7 per cent of meat, bones and fish. These are all vital sinews of modern warfare.

So is the fat too many of us forget to turn over to the fat salvage campaign. One tank car of used household fats would provide the glycerine needed for a year for all the pharmaceutical supplies for a 2000-bed military hospital. Those sons, brothers, friends and neighbors of ours over there fighting need medical care—quickly and without stint. Kitchen fats go into the glycerine used in these supplies—tannic acid for treatment of burns, some insulins for shock and diabetes, sulfamintments for abrasions and other life and pain-saving drugs.

So we'll have to outlaw our habit of wasting food. Kindness to garbage pails is national sabotage when Food Fights For Freedom.

Washington at a Glance
By HERMAN R. ALLEN
WASHINGTON — War is supposed to be fought according to "international law." But it isn't... for a very simple reason.
The reason is that the international laws of war are little more than a code of etiquette. The only real force keeping a warring nation from violating them is fear of reprisals. This explains why the Germans are so careful about the treatment of prisoners and why they have been so ruthless in submarine warfare. They have few merchant ships of their own which could be lost by reprisals.
In the broad sense international law is a code built up from centuries of custom regulating the commercial, diplomatic and military relations of civilized nations.
The military regulations are contained for the most part in the Hague Convention of 1864. They have been supplemented from time to time, principally by the Geneva Convention of 1906, the Hague Convention of 1907, the Washington Treaty of 1922 and the Geneva Protocol of 1925.
These are some of the main provisions of the law of war:
It is forbidden to use poison, poisoned arms, poison gas or virulent bacteria.
It is forbidden to kill or wound a surrendered enemy, to declare "no quarter," to use arms causing unnecessarily severe wounds, to make improper use of flags of truce or the red cross emblem, to attack a city which has been declared "open or undefended," to pillage any place even if taken by assault.
Hospitals and religious, artistic, scientific and charitable institutions must be spared as much as possible unless they are used for military purposes. But it is up to the home team to mark such buildings and notify the enemy where they are.
Unanchored mines are prohibited unless they become harmless within an hour after passing from control of the side which plants them. Anchored mines must become harmless if they break loose, and torpedoes if they miss their mark.
Submarines must desist from attacking merchant vessels if they cannot remove crew and passengers to safety.
It is the responsibility of the occupying power to maintain public safety in occupied territory. Property or labor may not be requisitioned except for the necessities of the army of occupation. Requisitions must be in proportion to the resources of the community and must not involve the population in military activity against their own country. Requisitioned goods must be paid for immediately or else a receipt given and the money paid as soon as possible.
Enemy ships are liable to capture on the high seas or in enemy waters. Ships on the way home when war is declared are exempt, and time is allowed ships in enemy harbors to make a getaway. Ships on religious, scientific or philanthropic missions are exempt.
Prisoners of war must be humanely treated, and protected from abuse. Enlisted men may be put to work on public or private projects. If the work is for the national government, they must be paid the same rates as soldiers of that government. If for a private employer, at a rate agreed with military authorities. They must be fed, clothed and housed as well as soldiers. Newspaper correspondents, contractor's employees and others may be "assimilated" into an army and are then subject to the same treatment as soldiers if captured. Relief societies such as the International Red Cross must be permitted access to prisoners. Letters, packages and money orders must be delivered to prisoners postage and duty free.
There is no provision for treatment of interned civilians. Ambulances, hospitals and hospital ships must be "respected and protected under all circumstances." Such establishments or vehicles or ships must show the red cross emblem at all times. So must stretcher-bearers.
Spies may not be executed without trial. Scouts in uniform or civilians or soldiers openly delivering a message to their own army or the enemy are not regarded as spies. A spy who rejoins his own army and is later captured is not liable to treatment as spy.
Civilians who resist invasion are subject to protection if they are commanded by a person responsible for them, wear a emblem recognizable at a distance, carry arms openly and observe the laws of war.

Aviation Medicine Has Hard Problems
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
THE FOLLOWING quotation from a book "Psychology in Aviation," by Dr. Chalmers L. Gemmill (published by C. C. Thomas, Springfield, Illinois), will give you some idea of some of the things the aviation doctor is up against.
"Expansion of Intestinal Gas.—In an ascent to 38,389 feet, one volume of gas originally in the intestinal tract at sea level now occupies 5 volumes. This expansion of gas causes distention and abdominal discomfort in the aviator ascending to such altitudes and may cause respiratory and circulatory distress if the expansion of the gas forces the diaphragm to push up on the heart and lungs."
Aviation medicine, per se, is a brand new science, and while many of its most pressing problems have been solved, there are still plenty that are proving hard nuts to crack. Man is a terrestrial animal. You can tell that by his design—his anatomy. And not only that, he originated at sea level and that is where he is still most at home. To send him ten, twenty or thirty thousand feet in the air is to discombobulate his physiology entirely.

Other Aviation Problems
One of the aviation problems not yet solved is that of the "bends". When air pressure is changed comparatively rapidly, bubbles of nitrogen are forced out of the blood vessels into the muscles causing cramps. The deep sea diver, who has worked an hour or more under pressure, is brought to the surface gradually in a closed chamber in which the air pressure is slowly brought back to surface conditions.
The aviator cannot be put in an air tight chamber. The nearest solution to the problem, I am told by Dr. John F. Fulton, of Yale University, who is directing the researches, is that there is a method by which the men who are not likely to get the bends can be selected from a group.
But the aviation medics are not the only men in the military medical and surgical fields who are having problems. This war is the no other war in the destructiveness of the weapons, and the shattering effect on men's nervous systems.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE
EVERYTHING rocked. The lamp shade and the door tilting dizzily. The pictures on the walls. The enlarged snapshot of Jim and Beth and Andrea on Beth's dressing table. Jim, who was "missing" after the bombs hit. Jim, who was gone forever on the first day of war.
Beth tried to swallow. Her throat was swollen. Her mouth was dry. She couldn't speak for a moment. And when she could, all she said was, "I can't believe you, Andrea. You said you were going to have a baby."
Andrea took off her hat and dropped it on the dressing table. Then she picked up the picture. "I hope he's as good looking as Jim," she said in a matter-of-fact voice. "We were married in October."
Beth swallowed again. She was beyond speech.
"I wanted you to be my bridesmaid," Andrea said, closing her eyes, "but it happened so suddenly. I was staying with the Thompsons. Remember the Thompsons?"
Beth nodded. The blood was beginning to return to her brain, but to say that she felt relief or pain or anything else would have been wrong. She was incapable of feeling or thinking anything because she still was rocked by the shock of Andrea's news.
"Bethina always gave parties," Andrea went on in a dreamy voice. "She gave one that day—or was going to. The house was full of flowers and there were nice things to eat. Then she got a telegram that meant she had to catch a train for Kansas City that night. She said it was too bad that Jim and I weren't married because she'd have to get a chaperone to stay in the house. So Jim said we could turn the party into a wedding. We did."
Beth's eyes never moved from Andrea's face, but she was conscious of a deep hurt. Neither Jim nor Andrea had wanted her there. "Jim tried to reach you," The hurt was less when Andrea said that. "He said it wouldn't be right to not have you there. We tried to get you on the telephone, but you were out. I guess you were out with Vernon. It all happened in three hours. . . . Do you remember the pictures we took? Those were our wedding pictures. You said I looked like a bride."
"I remember," Beth said, her memory rushing back to that day, and you looked alarmed."
"It was silly, but I thought you might have seen the ring on my finger."
"Why didn't you tell me?"
"We. . . I wanted to keep it a secret. I didn't know where Jim would be sent and you know that nobody wants to take out another man's bride. Oh, it was silly—it was worse—but, Beth, I'm not a girl who can sit home by herself night after night. I don't mean any harm, but I have to be where people are. I'm young!"
"Did Jim agree?"
"He didn't like it much, but he couldn't do anything about it because I said I wouldn't marry him unless he agreed."
Beth was remembering the day that Jim told her he would take Andrea any time, on her terms.
"But all that about having a wedding reception out there. With his company. That would have been such fun. Did you ever guess, Beth?"
Beth shook her head.
"I was in a panic the day you came to Eunice's apartment with Jim, but I guess you didn't know. Oh, Beth, what am I going to do now?"
"I don't know," she said sadly. "But we'll make out."
"This isn't your show. You won't have to worry about it. In the beginning I thought I wouldn't have a baby."
Beth's face was almost terrible at that moment.
Andrea smiled sweetly. "But I couldn't do that, Beth. I'd rather have a baby than anything in the world."
Beth got up and went over to her, drawing her close in her arms, saying nothing.
"But what shall I do? Where will I go? What will I live on?"
Beth passed her hand wearily over her forehead. "There must be lots of ways."
"Not on $16 a week. I can't save anything. I spent all the money Jim gave me on clothes to take out there."
She began to cry then, rocking in Beth's arms. After her sobs quieted, she said, "We were such fools. I blame Jim for it, too. I didn't believe there would be a war, but he did. He could have made some provision."
Beth sat back on her heels. "You mean that you didn't arrange anything like that?"
Andrea mopped at her nose and shook her head. "We were going to do that after I got there. He used to send me money orders made to Andrea Barnes."
Beth let out her breath. "Oh, cities will naturalize soldiers in those areas."

"Mr. Willkie hasn't made himself entirely clear just where he differs with me. I'd welcome a million people would welcome a frank statement. We must settle that issue right this time. Let's not wisecrack about it."

CHERRY HILL PTA WILL BUY HEALTH BOND

Organization Has Its First Pot-luck Supper for Year Tuesday

Highlight of the Cherry Hill P-TA meeting Tuesday night was the potluck supper, served from long tables in the school basement and eaten at other tables in the school rooms.

During the business session, which was conducted by Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis, president, at the supper tables, the group voted to buy a health bond, an annual custom for the P-TA. For the Christmas candy treat at Cherry Hill school, the P-TA decided to buy candy canes.

Miss Opal Davids, principal, reported that returns from redeeming sales tax receipts will be about $30 by the first of the year. This money is used for school projects and becomes part of the P-TA treasury.

An announcement was made urging all P-TA members and the school children to save any money which they may receive for Christmas gifts to buy War Bonds in the coming Fourth War Loan Drive, slated to begin January 18.

A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools, spoke to the group on juvenile delinquency, the importance of black and white lies and on children in general. Miss Jeanne Miller played two piano solos.

Tables for the potluck supper, the first held at Cherry Hill for several years, were centered with red tapers and spruce twigs. Centerpiece for each table was a miniature Santa Claus with his sleigh and reindeer.

Navy Trainees Dominate 1943 All-America

Markets and Finance

By CHIP ROYAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—There was a popular song in World War I that went something like this: "The Navy took you over and the Navy will bring you back!"

The first part of that little ditty is what happened to college football this year—the Navy took over. In fact, Navy men went so far as to grab nine places on the 19th annual College All-America football team chosen today by the Associated Press sports editors and writers throughout the United States. The Army landed two men despite its refusal to permit students to participate in inter-collegiate athletics.

All of which recalls a recent statement made by a top football coach. Asked to name an All-American team, the mentor said: "Pick any two sailors, two coast guardsmen, two merchant mariners, two soldiers, a marine, a flier and a paratrooper—and how can you beat them?"

That statement goes double for the All-America. How can you go against these selections of the country's top sports writers when you look at the records?

On the ends are Joe Parker of Texas, a Navy medical student, and Ralph Heywood, a Southern California Marine V-12.

The tackles are Jim White, Notre Dame, Navy V-12; and Pat Preston, Duke, Marine V-12.

The guards are John Steber, Georgia Tech, Navy V-12; and George Brown, Jr., United States Naval Academy junior.

Lined up over the ball at center is the brilliant West Point captain and senior, Casimir Myslinski. The backs are Bob Odell, Pennsylvania, Navy V-5; Creighton Miller, Notre Dame senior who was given a medical discharge from the Army just before Notre Dame played its first game; Otto Graham, Northwestern, Navy V-5, and Bill Daley, Minnesota's gift to Michigan by way of the Navy-12 class.

Notre Dame Places Two
Notre Dame, voted the top football team of the nation since the start of the season, has placed two players on the first team and two on the second, Minnesota place Bruce Smith and Dick Wildung on the big team in 1941.

Out of a total of 33 places on the All-America squad, the mid-west landed 12 men. The east, with West Point and Annapolis holding sway, grabbed eight positions, three of them on the No. 1 team; the south, six; the far west, four; the southwest, two and the Rocky Mountains, one.

No matter how much a fan roots for the thousands of football players all over the country, he must admit that White is the country's top sports writers when you look at the records?

Dairymaids Take Loop Lead With Two-out-of-three Win

Light's Dairymaids, who reigned over the Women's City League last year, today were back on top of the heap and Lloyd's Markettes, with whom they were tied for first place when they started the tenth round of bowling on the Main Street alleys Tuesday night, were in the No. 2 spot.

The Dairymaids slipped up in front in the race by winning two out of three games from the Morris Store girls while the Markettes were taking a two to one thumping at the hands of the next-to-last place Farmerettes.

The deadlocked Astorippers and Tenders were broken when the Hawkinson girls took the first two games of their match and left the Craig team the odd tit.

The trailing Record-Herald newsgirls won their fourth game of the season when they took the opener from the Business and Professional Women in a close match in which they were edged out in the last two. Billie Toops' 413 was high for the match.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Local football experts figure that Emory Nix will be the grid Giants' "secret weapon" against the Redskins next Sunday. . . Nix, a star passer at Texas Christian, hasn't done much too this season and they believe it's about time for him to cut loose. . . Last Sunday it was Nix to feed the ball to Bill Paschal on that payoff play which was so deceptive even Steve Owen thought Dave Brown had the pigskin. . . Wonder who'll be the first enterprising photographer to come up with a photo of Sport Shirt Bill Veek of the Milwaukee Brewers wearing a hat and tie after he reports as a Marine?

Combat Correspondents

The AP wires yesterday carried stories from Tarawa written by Marine combat correspondent, Pete Zurlinden, who used to give you the dope on Navy football as AP correspondent at Annapolis, and Gene Ward, former New York Daily News sports scribe. . . It only goes to prove that you can't keep a sports writer away from a good fight.

Anniversary Note

Yesterday was the second anniversary of Pearl Harbor. . . It also was the occasion for the first showing of the American League's world series film to local spectators, the presentation of the Lambert trophy to the Navy football team, a meeting of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations, Inc., and one of the New York tennis writers. . . Today the boxing scribes gather to vote on the award of the Eddie Neil trophy—probably to Freddie Apostoli or Benny Leonard. . . Who was it said sports wouldn't survive a year of war?

Schoolboy Stuff

The Ansonia, Conn., high school kicker whose name we couldn't remember the other day is Kenneth Wheeler, and his boosters say he not only kicked 21 out of 26 points after touchdowns this season, but averaged about 40 yards on punts and completed seven touchdown passes.

Service Dept.

Boxing fans at Keesler Field, Miss., figure they have a show of their own to match the Joe Louis and Co. troupe that is due there soon. Pts. Charles and Herman Kapel, identical twins from Fairport, Ohio, recently mixed in a bout and before it was over the referee couldn't tell which was which and their commanding officer jumped into the ring to separate them. When the referee called the bout a draw, both twins went to work on him.

this year that students of the "T" are wasting no words in proclaiming White as the baby who makes the formation click for the Irish.

Preston, a Wake Forest transfer, also is a standout among tackles. Weighing 205 pounds, three less than the Irish stalwart, Preston, is one of the speediest men to climb into Blue Devil football togs.

Miller Toughest To Stop
As for Miller, so many players, coaches and football writers have classed this seventh son of an illustrious South Bend family as the hardest guy to stop this year, he is practically a unanimous choice.

Creighton's speedy elusiveness in those fast-opening plays of the Irish was everything that beauty should be. In fact, all those would-be tacklers are still moaning that Miller was the hardest man to bring down.

Daley is another speedster. While playing for Minnesota in 1942 he moved his 200 odd pounds over the century course in 10 seconds and gained honorable mention on two All-America squads. He has improved this year. In six appearances (before the Navy moved him elsewhere) Bill piled up 617 yards, averaging 6.8 every time he carried the ball.

The country's top fullback really went to town though when the Wolverines lost to Notre Dame. Daley lugged the pigskin 24 times and picked up 135 yards. That's the mostest distance any back has notched against Frank Leahy's boys all year.

Close Game Marks Play In API Loop

Fit and rarin' to go after three fast league games on the Armory floor Tuesday night, the API All-Star basketball teams today were looking forward to a double feature at Wilmington Thursday night in a resumption of the inter-city court feud.

The Wright Field Airport, just outside the city, has a team of basketballers which has met and failed before the API boys and the D. P. & L. Co. there also has put a team on the floor which has tangled this season with them.

In Tuesday night's league games, the Ramblers, paced by Adamski who registered 17 points, edged out the Seahawks, 33 to 32, in an overtime battle. Whaley was the high scorer for the Seahawks.

Bentley and Chaffin scorched the hardwood from opposite sides as the Buckeyes humbled the Hoosiers, 49 to 31, in a game marked by flashy offensive play. All of the Boilermakers took a hand in piling up their 47 to 20 win over the Wildcats.

The preliminary was cut to one game between the teams of girl API workers which was on, 7 to 4, by Connie's Cubs.

west football fans are calling him Northwestern's greatest back since the heydays of Pug Rentner in 1932. Otto was a power whether he was running, passing, kicking, receiving, blocking or tackling—a six threat in every sense of the hyphenated word.

For one of his records, the 190-pounder from Jack Benny's home town of Waukegan, Ill., completed 32 out of 63 aerials for 491 yards in Western Conference games and a new high.

Over his gridiron career of 21 games, Graham has 157 completions out of 321 tosses for 2,162

Three Tries and Three Touchdowns - Just One Of His Achievements

GOOSE CREEK, Tex., Dec. 8.—

(AP)—Your footsteps are being followed, Red Grange—and pretty nearly filled, too! Remember the day you handled the ball five times for five touchdowns, against Michigan.

George Walmsey, the Texas high school wonder, handled the ball three times for three touchdowns, all within 90 seconds; he could have done more, but he wasn't in any longer.

Walmsey, the 147-pound triple-threat of the unbeaten, untied Goose Creek Ganders, did it against Conroe, racing 67, 66 and 37 yards for his scores.

George made his debut in 1940 at the age of 14. The coach sent him in a game to "hold down the score." Walmsey proceeded to make three touchdowns in that final period—one on an 80-yard run. Texas teams have been trying to stop him ever since.

Now he's a senior and has led his team to 11 straight victories. He has scored 12 touchdowns, passed for the same number, ran 24 punts back for 315 yards and intercepted five passes.

His most notable feat was in the Port Arthur game of 1941. George had a broken hand that night and didn't start the game. Finally, the Ganders managed to stop the Yellow Jackets on the two-yard line and Coach Dan Stallworth in desperation sent in Walmsey to punt.

From deep in the end zone George booted out on the Port Arthur 45. The ball traveled 65 yards in the air.

yards. Add his feats of this year when he averaged 38 yards per punt, seven out of nine extra points and 10 touchdowns, and you get a rough idea of why he was picked over Angelo (Flipper) Bertelli, Eddie Prokop of Georgia Tech, and others.

Bertelli can blame "Dead-eye" Johnny Lujack for not making the All-America. If Angelo had been able to finish out the season, it's dollars to doughnuts he would be on the first team. But, when Lujack stepped into his shoes for the toughest games on Notre Dame's schedule, and it made no difference to the Irish, it made Bertelli just another passer.

Odell couldn't be beat on the defense. Every coach who sent a team against Pennsylvania hurried back to the football writers' lunch-rooms and declared:

"That boy Odell is a sure All-America. He's the greatest blocker, tackler and safety man in the country. He made the Quakers good."

Bowl Stuff on End

Going back to the line and the ends, Parker and Heywood are two six-footers who can catch passes and kick—if necessary.

Parker won three letters on the Texas varsity. Big and strong, he made the Longhorns' rosters cheer the way he manhandled all interference.

It was Heywood who made the end-around play popular again with Southern California. Pacific Coast fans say it is a sight for sore eyes to see the six foot, two inch end on top of that, Ralph's passes and consistent booting are two of the reasons why the Trojans are slated for the Rose Bowl.

COUNTY TOPS IN WASTE PAPER SHIPPING NOW

Newspapers Sponsoring New Waste Paper Campaign In Nation

Fayette County is at the top per capita in shipping waste paper, L. R. Daugherty, employed at Howard Brown's paper shed, told Maynard Craig, head of the salvage campaign here. Daugherty said a representative of a paper manufacturing company told him of the county's high rating.

"That may be an unofficial source of information, but it makes us feel pretty good anyway," Craig commented. Fayette County may be considered an exception to the rule, if a report from the U. S. Victory Waste Paper Campaign can be relied upon. The report reads, in part:

"Because of the failure of waste paper collections to meet the current demand, 25 paper mills are now shut down and 100 are operating on a part time basis. Waste paper collections must be increased by one-third to put these mills back on normal operation."

"Under the direction of the Newspaper Committee of the U. S. Victory Waste Paper Campaign, formed at the urgent solicitation of Donald M. Nelson, War Production chief, who recalled the work which newspapers did in helping to collect 6,000,000 tons of scrap metal last year, newspaper executives throughout the country will form new committees or strengthen existing set-ups to draw into production every pound of waste paper possible."

"In announcing the campaign, which has as its slogan, 'Save a Bundle a Week—Save Some Boy's Life,' the committee placed great stress on the fact that this campaign will not be a repetition of the first waste paper drive."

"The newspapers are calling upon all sources of supply from office buildings to housewives to conserve every scrap of paper that comes into their hands."

"Newspapers should be folded flat and tied in bundles about 12 inches high."

"Magazines and books should be tied in bundles about 18 inches high."

"Corrugated and cardboard boxes and cartons should be flattened and tied in bundles about 12 inches high."

"Wastebasket paper, such as wrappers, envelopes, etc., should be flattened and packed down in a box or bundle."

"The war time uses of waste paper are highly essential and numerous. Waste paper goes into containers for ammunition, army rations and blood plasma, into bomb fins, parachute flares, cartridge paper, fuses, into gas mask canisters, garbage cans, into helmets and targets. There are the hundreds of uses to which the public is well accustomed, letters and envelopes, posters, check papers for military and government use, covers for war stamp and ration books."

"Waste paper has gone to war and the Newspaper Committee is insistent that this newest and most vital salvage campaign be a huge success."

SELDEN GRANGE RECEIVES THREE NEW MEMBERS

Forest Shade Grange Will Celebrate 70th Anniversary January 10

Three new candidates were received into full membership of the Grange at the Selden Grange meeting Tuesday night. They are Mr. and Mrs. Lorain Morter and Mrs. Violet Davis. The obligations were administered by W. W. Montgomery.

Deputy Master Ralph Nisley announced that Forest Shade Grange will celebrate its 70th anniversary January 10. Nisley announced the beginning of the Fourth War Bond Drive, beginning January 18. He quoted Mrs. N. M. Reiff, chairman of organizations for the Fayette County War Finance Committee, as saying organizations could be given credit for bond purchases of their members, provided that bonds purchased by members were not counted by some other group or organization.

New officers of Selden Grange will be installed at the January meeting. This meeting will be open to the public and will be opened by a covered dish supper at 7 P. M.

Mrs. Mary Conner presented a Bible to the grange for use on the altar in the opening and closing ceremonies and in the ritualistic work of the grange. This gift was accepted on behalf of the grange by Worthy Master W. H. Theobald. The grange gave a vote of thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Conner.

At the close of the business session, a Christmas gift exchange was held. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Garringer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hise and Cecil Van Zant. The Selden Juvenile Grange met at the same time Tuesday. They enjoyed games and puzzles under the supervision of Juvenile Deputy Mrs. Eliza Nisley. The group also participated in a gift exchange.

Wooden Toys Featured In Many Stores Here

This is going to be a wooden Christmas—at least so far as many toys are concerned.

Stores here are filled with wooden wagons, wooden wheelbarrows, wooden trains, guns, tanks, landing barges, sleds, scooters and hobby horses.

One train—an engine, coal car, tanker and caboose—is made of birch logs with the bark still on. Wooden runners of the sleds are sanded smooth as glass. Wagons are sturdily constructed too and evidently designed to take plenty of hard playing. Some of the guns—every type from pistols and tommy guns to anti-aircraft jobs mounted on tripods—have cranks which send out a steady ack-ack firing noise.

Cardboard has replaced metal in the standard construction and erector sets as well as kits to construct tanks, airplanes and other toy military machines.

Metal hasn't gone entirely out of the toy picture, for metal printing presses, a few train cars and tracks, and sets of toy golf clubs with metal heads are found, although they are in the minority.

Dolls are just as cute as ever, although they are nearly all made of cloth or plastic materials. Few have eyes that open and shut. Plastic sets of dishes, knives and forks, wooden brooms, mops, carpet sweepers and other toy household implements are on the market in abundance.

As one store manager put it, "The wheels might not roll as fast as the metal ones did, but there certainly will be plenty of toys to go around."

Meacham, pastor of the church, announced the get-together meeting to welcome all the new members into the church.

The evangelistic services were held by Rev. Meacham, assisted by Rev. Paul Jones of Hillsboro and Dan L. Hughes, Welsh singer.
